

Reduce health care costs and maintain essential employee benefits.

In today's world of rising medical costs, employers are faced with challenging decisions related to the benefit plan they offer employees. Solutions include implementing a Health Reimbursement Arrangement and changing the insurance benefit they offer, or in extreme cases, eliminating the insurance benefit altogether. DirectPay is the right choice for employers who want to allocate a set dollar amount for employee medical expenses or who wish to offer a Plan that covers specific medical expenses only.

How does it work?

With DirectPay, employers set aside a specific amount annually from which employees pay for health care expenses. Employees request reimbursement from DirectPay after an expense is incurred. Our unique Funding Arrangement is available only to DirectPay Clients and allows advance claim payment to employees before full Plan funding.
